Mission Statement
The Citizens Police Academy Alumni Association of Norfolk’s mission is to support law enforcement in Norfolk, VA through education, information, networking, community service, and volunteerism.

The President’s Beat
Dear Membership,

Last month it was our privilege to recognize and honor the two recipients for Officer of the Year for 2009–2010.

Investigator J.R. Malbon and Sergeant W.K. Kelly’s hard work and dedication to duty exemplifies the caliber of officers we are so fortunate to have in the Norfolk Police Department. To Investigator Malbon and Sergeant Kelly, we give our congratulations for a job well done. You are a credit to yourselves, the Norfolk Police Department, and the City of Norfolk.

As we come to the end of our 2009–2010 year, on behalf of the CPAAAN Membership, the CPAAAN Board and myself, I would like to thank the Command Staff, all of the Officers and the Civilian Staff of the Norfolk Police Department for all the time and support that you have given us. I look forward to working with and supporting you in the coming year.

This month we will be giving away our Scholarship. I hope you are as excited as I am to see the fruits of our hard work. Our Fundraising Committee worked hard this year to ensure that we will be able to continue with our Scholarship Program. Thank you so much.

In closing, I wish you all a safe and wonderful summer, and I look forward to seeing you September 21, 2010.

Organization is critical when you’re storing the personal property of an average 1,500 inmates, not to mention the belongings of another 500 who’ve left jail and didn’t look back.

Oversized bright blue laundry bags hang systematically on an automatic conveyer rack, similar to those in a professional laundry service.

When he needs to find an inmate’s personal clothing or small possessions like cell phones or jewelry, Master Deputy Dennis Boyles can pinpoint their location. Computer records, a backup library card system, and log book are his checks and balances.

Boyles takes pride in his tight, well-maintained property quarters. Understandably, he’s also proud of a zero loss record in small and large property items for the past three years since he’s been in charge of the division. Possessions of personal value get locked in a caged area with controlled access. Let a discharged inmate even suggest he/she is missing a piece of personal property and Boyles can produce the inventory list the inmate signed upon entry to jail.

“We take pride in what we do here at the property window; we strive for customer service,” asserts Boyles. Beginning July 1, a new state law should lighten Boyles load. No longer will the NSO have to hold inmate property for the required six months after release. Unless the inmate is transferred to another facility, personal property must be taken with the inmate once he’s sprung from lockup. Otherwise, a sheriff may sell the property and turn the proceeds over to the state treasury.

“It will reduce the amount of property we’re forced to hold by 35–40 percent,” says Boyles. A “real” Rolex watch, cell phones, lap tops, marital aides, stun guns, the Property team has seen and stored it all!

Half of the property he currently stores Boyles considers to be “insignificant items.” But out of respect to the owners and in keeping with the Team’s customer service-friendly motto, he understands that one man’s junk is another man’s treasure.

As a result of the new law, it could also cut down on donations to local thrift stores. Currently, the Property division takes more than 200 bags of inmates’ personal items to area second hand stores each month. It’s unclaimed property that the NSO is now allowed to dispose of after 60 days.

Tech Tip—Saving Log-In Information

Websites that require a log-in (banks, shopping) many times prompt the user to “save” their log-in information. However, this can mean that anyone sitting at your computer can log in as well.

It can be the friend of a family member who “borrows” your computer, someone who finds your lost laptop, or a thief who breaks into your home and turns on your computer.

Just as you would not leave your password written on a piece of paper on your desktop, you should not save it at any log-in point for e-commerce. The best rule to use is memory—your memory.

Happy Birthday to You

Police Officers of the Year

The CPAAAN Officer of the Year Award for 2009–2010 went to two officers from the NPD Homicide Department who brought a murderer to justice. Investigator J.R. Malbon and Sergeant W.K. Kelly, who both went above and beyond the call of duty, were presented the plaques by their Supervisor, Captain Ryan.

These two officers solved a complex and very lengthy capital murder case in which the perpetrator raped and stabbed his stepdaughter on September 20, 2008. The case was so strong and well prepared that only two of twenty-five defense motions were granted. As a result of lengthy investigations and numerous legal proceedings, Kentrell Sanderson pled guilty on February 10, 2010 and was sentenced to 4 life terms plus 5 years.

Chief Bruce Marquis stated that the “work ethic and dedication of Investigator Malbon and Sergeant Kelly contribute to making the Norfolk Police Department one of the finest agencies in the nation.” He further said that “these are highly motivated officers who have earned the respect of fellow officers and prosecuting attorneys alike.”

Two Distinguished Visitors to Norfolk

Two very distinguished members of the faculty of the University of Illinois College of Law visited Norfolk recently to observe the structure of the Norfolk Police Department and the type of programs available to Norfolk residents. Professor Jacqueline Ross and Thierry Delpeuch of France are currently conducting research funded by a grant on Transnational Intelligence and policing methods in both the United States and France.

CPAAAN was honored to have them attend a very informative Board of Directors meeting during their time here. Board members were interviewed and offered their input regarding various City of Norfolk programs. We had a great opportunity to share the many ways in which our association supports law enforcement.

National Night Out

The 27th annual National Night Out will take place in more than 15,000 communities on Tuesday, August 3. Norfolk’s major celebration will be held at 6:00 PM, at McKendree United Methodist Church on Military Hwy. Volunteers are needed for various committees. For more information on this crime prevention tradition, please call 664-6937.

Norfolk Police Graduation

Class #86 of the Norfolk Police Academy is scheduled to graduate on Thursday, June 10. The ceremony will take place at 6:30 PM in the Norview High School Auditorium.

As always, the Citizens Academy will help distribute programs and the CPAAAN News.

Congratulations to the newest group of our Norfolk Police Officers.
On Wednesday, May 12, 2010, at 10:00AM, the City and the Norfolk Police Department conducted the annual Police Officers’ Memorial in grateful memory of our fallen officers.

In 1962, President John F. Kennedy signed a proclamation which designated May 15th as Peace Officers Memorial Day, and the calendar week of each year during which May 15th occurs as National Police Week.

The Norfolk Police Department paid tribute to all Law Enforcement Officers who have made the ultimate sacrifice, but in particular honored the 38 Norfolk Officers who lost their lives in the line of duty over the past century while proudly wearing the badge of the Norfolk Police Department and working to keep our city safe.

For Animated Photos of the Ceremony and much more, visit our website at www.cpaaan.org

Guest Speaker was RDML R.P. Wright, Reserve Deputy Commander, U.S. Fleet Forces Command. Mayor Paul Fraim issued an official proclamation for the observance of this occasion and presented it to Chief Bruce P. Marquis.

Memorial wreaths were then presented by various organizations. As has been our custom, CPAAAN provided a wreath which was presented by President Yvette Brown. This was followed by a reading of the Honor Roll by Robert Cuthrell, with a toll of the bell as the name of each deceased officer was read.

Outstanding music was provided by the Ladies Ensemble of Booker T. Washington High School, directed by Yvette Wyatt.

The ceremony closed with Taps followed by Benediction by Police Chaplain John Shappell.
